SMAG, a French manufacturer and distributor of printing and converting equipment for the label and flexible packaging industry, has opened a branch office in the United States to handle sales in the US and Canada. The office is located in Omaha, NE.

The company specializes in screen printing with its Galaxie, a modular press. SMAG also offers equipment for use in conjunction with digital presses: a varnish unit, sheeters, tabletop rewinders, inspection machines, slitters, and turret rewinders.

SMAG has about 20 equipment installations in the US, and offers maintenance support. Heading the operation in North America is Georges Scherlizin.
